VOLUME 6 NUMBER 22

Public Invited to Attend Concert Put on by RHS Dance Class

The Romulus High School dance classes will be sponsoring their Second Annual Dance Concert on Thursday, May 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the High School auditorium. Admission is just $1.

The concert will consist of dances performed by Romulus' own students, many of whom are presently enrolled in one of the three sections of dance classes offered at Romulus High School. Other students not currently taking dance class, but who have a strong desire to perform, dance, or choreograph, will also demonstrate their dancing talents. All the students have spent many committed hours in rehearsal and preparation for this event.

Following the usual format of such concerts, a variety of dances will be featured. Melinda Shearer from MTM Dance Productions (located here in Romulus) has choreographed a jazz piece for two students, and the energetic rhythms of Michael Jackson will be danced to, as will the song stylings of Frank Sinatra, Whitney Houston, and Snap, to name only a few. Dance styles will range from jazz to modern, from lyric to hip-hop.

Each dance class will present one collaborative work. Smaller group projects have produced student choreographies and collaborative efforts with the help of the dance teacher, Judith Thompson. □

Schools, City Employees Receive "Biohazards" Training

Over 600 Romulus Community Schools employees, as well as employees from St. Aloysius Catholic School and the City of Romulus, received special training in safely handling blood and body fluids on Friday, April 28, 1993.

Conducting the training of all School District employees—both full-time and part-time, regular and substitute—was Kenneth J. Romans, a registered nurse from Occupational Health Solutions of Brighton, Michigan. During the in-service, which was held in Romulus High School's auditorium, employees were taught safe methods of performing their job tasks in order to greatly reduce or eliminate their chances of contracting a blood-borne disease such as HIV or HBV.

The training will be followed by Hepatitis B inoculations for all employees, at their option, at no cost to them.

This comprehensive training is mandated by the Occupational Health and Safety Administration for all workers who may come into contact with another person's blood or body fluids in the course of their jobs. Teachers, custodians, secretaries, bus drivers, and aides are potentially at risk of facing such situations in school on a daily basis; and, since the District wished to avoid the possibility of a dispute with employees and their unions, which might have occurred had it offered the vaccine to some employees and not others, the Board of Education opted to offer the inoculations to all employees at no cost. Clinics will be set up throughout the District on Friday to begin the series of three inoculations.

An exposure-control plan, to be followed by all employees, is also being developed by Romans with the assistance of School Nurse and District Exposure Control Coordinator, Ruth Fairchild, and Jan Haynes, High School teacher.

For more information on this program, contact Dr. Terrel M. LeCesne, Assistant Superintendent for Administrative Services, at the District's administrative office: 941-1600. □

Romulus Historical Society Says Thank You!

By Gloria Chandler

The Romulus Historical Society would like to give a big "thank you" to the Romulus High School Reunion for the Fifties Committee (classes 1950 through 1959) for their generous donation of $1,850. The reunion committee, formed in 1976, has held four reunions since then: one in 1977, one in 1982, another in 1987, and the last in 1992. The reunions were enthusiastically attended by about 500 Romulus alumni and their spouses.

donate the balance to the Romulus Historical Society. They felt that the "Little Red Schoolhouse Museum" and the newly dedicated Romulus Historic Park—not so very far from where their old Romulus High School used to stand—were very positive additions to downtown Romulus.

The committee also purchased five bricks in the City's Veterans' Memorial, located on Goddard Road in front of the complex comprised of Romulus City Hall, the Romulus Public Library, and the 34th District Court building.

Again, a big "thank you" to the committee for their generosity. The Romulus Historical Society has already purchased a copying machine, some paper, and a stand with some of the money. This will greatly assist the Romulus Historical Society in helping visitors who come to the Museum to trace their roots.

The Romulus Historical Society would like to remind everyone that the Romulus Historical Museum, located in downtown Romulus, is open Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. It is open to the public, and there is no admission charge. □

Romulus Historical Society Urges the Community: "Don't Miss This Heritage Day"

By Pearl Varner, president, Romulus Historical Society

On Saturday, May 22—as part of the 1993 Romulus Michigan Week Festival celebration—the Romulus Historical Society will be sponsoring "Heritage Day in the Park," to be held at the Romulus Historical Museum (located next to the Post Office on Hunt Street in downtown Romulus) and the new Romulus Historic Park with its beautiful gazebo.

This event promises to be an afternoon of superb entertainment, beginning at 1 p.m. with the Sixth Gate Cloggers, followed by the Rumbly Thunder Cloggers.

Visitors will also hear the music of the Brownstown Fun-Lovers Band and a local group of banjo players, as well as that of "The Dulcimer Lady," who will give us a special two-hour performance on her unusual instrument.

The Museum will be open from 1 to 5 p.m., and new displays of glassware, post cards, a World War II uniform, and a Vietnam uniform will be featured.

Please be sure to take time out from your busy Michigan Week Festival schedule and join us for our Heritage Day celebration. □

These days, it seems that if there's nothing wrong with you, then there's something wrong with you.

Even with all the current political turmoil in Russia and the dire predictions that communism may return, there's really no need to fret. A while back, I heard a news report which noted that a sizable group of American bankers were in Russia, teaching the Russians all about "credit." 'Nuf said, I'm sure.

Recently, I read a TV Guide article that explained how TV network executives closely follow the television viewing patterns of college students. The students, said the execs, are viewed as "trend-setters," and are monitored in order to establish future programming. After reading this, it suddenly occurred to me that a college TV buff may also be viewed as a Big Fan On Campus.

Each Sunday night, Detroit radio station WJR-AM carries a Nationally syndicated sports program: "Coast to Coast with Bob Costas." A couple of weeks ago, Costas' guest was baseball great Pete Rose . . . with hotel accommodations compliments of Las Vegas' Caesar's Palace. . . .

He: I just joined a new computerized dating service called Dateline.

She: Really? How does it work?

He: With their computer, Dateline finds someone who may be compatible with you. Then, you just send that person a letter telling him/her about yourself.

She: Okay, so how do you do that?

He: Simple—you just "Word it through the Dateline!"

Have you heard the Ernie Harwell commercial where he's pitching Tuffy Mufflers? Harwell talks to a couple—real, honest-to-gosh people (only Midas uses actors, you see)—and they tell Harwell about their recent experience with Tuffy. According to the two, Tuffy treated them with "dignity and respect." Heck, that doesn't sound like Tuffy. I know. . . . I've been there.

Actually, the couple sound more like people who have fallen on hard times, but lucked out and received good treatment when they applied for assistance at Social Services. I know. . . . I've been there, too.

Last week, I had a problem with my kitchen sink and had to call a plumber. When he arrived, the plumber was all smiles—dancing, spinning, and singing like a bird. Later, when he gave me his bill, I discovered that it was no wonder he'd been "Singing in the Drain!"

About three months ago, in my newly appointed role as Undersecretary of the Pack and Pact Department, I headed up a routine pack-finding mission. Accompanying me were several Congressmen, as well as a number of high-ranking Navy officers.

I'm happy to report that we found one very nice backpack packed on the back of an absolutely beautiful Texas Longhorn coed who happened to be packing her way through the French Riviera—where we happened to be, at the time, at the beginning of our pack-finding mission.

Several weeks later, we sighted a slightly used, discarded pack of gum in Palm Beach—where we happened to be, at the time, nearing the end of our pack-finding mission. Before diving into our Navy-organized departing party, we were able to sign a nonpack pact with the city in an effort to revitalize Palm Beach's urban beautification plans.

As your undersecretary, I promise to keep you updated on any further pack-finding missions that I feel are necessary. . . . And that's a pact. □

Free Saturday Art Classes Offered at the High School

Dance and vocal-music classes are being offered to junior-high and high-school students on Saturdays at Romulus High School.

The dance classes, which began March 27 and will continue each Saturday (except Memorial Weekend) until June 5, are taught by Melinda Shearer of MTM Dance Productions in Romulus. Sessions are held from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. for sixth- to eighth-graders, and from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. for ninth- to twelfth-graders. Melinda is well-skilled in teaching many styles of dance, including jazz, tap, modern, and ballet, as well as gymnastics. She is shaping the classes to fit those participating in them. It is not necessary for students to have attended since the beginning of the program; new students are welcome to join now. Shearer says that students should wear clothes that are comfortable to move in.

The music class will be doing a small production of The Phantom of the Opera in June. Jeff Willets, a vocal graduate assistant from Eastern Michigan University, will be leading students in the performance. Jeff has much experience as a teacher of elementary and secondary students, and is an accomplished performer in musical productions. This class meets from 12 to 1 p.m. each Saturday (except for Memorial Weekend) in the High School auditorium. All students in grades six through 12 are welcome to come and learn the parts, sing, and perform on stage in a culminating production of Phantom of the Opera.

Principal Thomas Dolan at the High School is responsible for co-writing a grant through the Wayne County Intermediate School District to fund these classes.

Besides these two classes, other classes are being offered in musical instruments and visual arts. All are free to interested students. For information, call Chuck Uztics (941-2170).

"How To Help Your Child Cope with Grief and Loss"

Sally Dunning, Director of Children's Services at Arbor Hospice, will be speaking on how to help your child cope with death/loss, how to talk with children about death, and how to deal with a terminal illness in the home. If you would like to attend the seminar, to be held at Barth on May 12 from 6:30 to 8 p.m., call Ms. Jackson (941-2821) by May 10. □

Romulus Profile: Daniel Bales

By Tom Shamanski

After 12 years of service on the Romulus Community Schools Board of Education, Daniel Bales has decided not to run for reelection in the upcoming Board election on June 14.

In a recent interview, the 49-year-old Bales stated, "I've made this decision based on personal and professional reasons. At this time, I feel that, if I were reelected to the Board, I simply wouldn't have the time needed to serve the public as I would like to."

"However," he continued, "I do plan to remain active in the community, and will become involved in City and Schools issues whenever I feel I'm needed."

Bales, a Kalamazoo native who has resided in Romulus for the last 24 years, added that he has received several calls concerning his retirement from the Board.

Said Bales, "I've had a lot of calls of support, with some of them coming from the teachers. Mayor (Beverly) McAnally also called and said that, although she understood my reasons for leaving the Board, she still regretted it, and said that I will be missed very much."

"All of this," he went on, "has made me feel very good. It seems like people know that I've tried to serve the Schools with as much personal integrity as I could, and I'm very appreciative of that fact."

When asked to list a few of the major contributions that he has made while on the School Board, the friendly, extremely hospitable Bales replied, "First of all, any contributions that I've been able to make have depended entirely on the support of the Romulus taxpayers. Therefore, I feel that anything I've done has been part of a community effort, along with the support of the Schools administration."

Bales then stated his belief that his assistance in developing a trusting relationship between the Board and the Schools' employees has been his major contribution while seated on the Board.

"Even though we don't always agree," explained Bales, "I feel that I've helped to develop a relationship of mutual respect between the Board and the teachers, as well as with the rest of the Schools' staff."

"If there's any regret that I have about leaving the Board," added Bales, "it would be leaving after working hard for the last 12 years to establish this trust."

Another Bales contribution was his involvement in the effort to bring financing in line with costs for the new technology, the new gymnasium, and the modernization of the schools.

Also, early on, Bales was instrumental in obtaining financing for instructional materials and a number of school buses.

Finally, approximately two years ago, Bales was called upon to testify in front of the Michigan Senate with regard to school funding and, specifically, financial relief for the Romulus Schools.

"At the hearing," said Bales, "I testified that Romulus was different from other communities because of the Airport, major expressways, and the numerous trains that continually run through the City."

"Therefore," he continued, "I told them that, because of all these things going against Romulus, we absolutely need to have good schools. I tried to emphasize the importance of realizing this need in order for us to draw new people to the community."

Bales then noted that, after considering his testimony – and that of several others – the Senate came out with a ruling favorable to Romulus.

In a speculative vein, when asked on what he would concentrate if he were to remain on the School Board, Bales stated, "First, and most importantly, I would continue to build upon the trust relationship between the Board and the Schools' employees. Also, I would stay active in the completion and full implementation of the new technology into our teaching system. I would also try to improve our MEAP (Michigan Education Assessment Program) scores, as I consider our continuing low scores to be my major disappointment while I've been on the School Board."

After stating his belief that Romulus seems to have a bad reputation among many outsiders, Bales added, "I would work to change that perspective; it needs to be changed very much. We need to be recognized throughout the tri-county area for the good work we've done here in our school system."

The School Board member then spoke about the school-financing proposal which Michigan voters will decide on in the upcoming June 2 election.

"If the proposal passes, and thereby reduces property taxes and hikes our sales tax," Bales said, "that will put Romulus Schools in a financial backslide. We simply won't have adequate funding to continue along the path we're on."

Bales further noted that, if school funding changes as a result of the measure being passed, various cuts will have to be implemented. This, he said, will result in a decline of the schools and, consequently, a decline within the community's neighborhoods.

When queried as to the overall relationship between the School Board and the District's administration, Bales answered, "Although we don't always agree, I feel that we have a good working relationship. In general, things are on the upswing now that all contracts have been settled; I hope that this good relationship will continue in the ensuing years."

During the recent teacher/Schools contract negotiations, Bales was described as one of the leaders in obtaining the dispute's final settlement.

* * *

In 1989, the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce named Bales as its Person of the Year. Throughout the years, he has been involved in numerous civic groups, a small number of which would include the Pastor/Parish Committee of Romulus' Community United Methodist Church, the City's Tax Increment Finance Authority (TIFA) board, the Romulus Recreation Commission, and the committee which oversees the annual Fourth of July youth games.

Additionally, Bales has been the announcer for the City's Michigan Week and Fourth of July parades, as well as the voice of the Romulus Flyers' Little League Football team.

* * *

In his workday world, Bales is vice-president and general manager of Universal Am-Can, Ltd., a trucking firm located in Warren.

After describing his duties – which, basically, involve maintaining an overall view of each company function – Bales said, "We haul truckloads of any cargo; you name it and we haul it!"

In a vivid illustration of the truth of his assertion, Bales then told me of the Company's recent task of moving a live whale for the State of Ohio's popular theme park, Seaworld.

* * *

For Bales, "the most important thing in the world" is his family. He and wife Carole have been married for 30 years. A secretary for the Romulus Community Schools for the past 15 years, Carole currently works at Wick Elementary.

The couple has three adult children, all single.

Bob, 27, is a University of Michigan graduate, and works for Northwest Airlines in the company's International Pricing Department. Bob currently resides in Livonia.

Twenty-four-year-old Brian has studied the Japanese language while in Japan, and is now a senior at Eastern Michigan University (EMU). After graduation, Brian hopes to use his bilingual talents in the manufacturing field.

At 20 years of age, daughter Becky is a junior at EMU, and plans to become an elementary-school teacher. Depending on her schedule, Becky lives either at home or on EMU's Ypsilanti campus.

The final member of the Bales household is Bingo, an extremely large and

Walleye Fishing Update

By Captain Ron Dubsky, Ice Breaker II
Sport-fishing Charters (313-941-3529)
Lake Erie Report

Walleye fishing on the Big Water has been very spotty; with the storms that have hit us on the weekends and the cold weather, these elements have made the walleye fishing very tough. One day, we go out (when the winds let us) and the fish are in 10 feet of water; the next day, they have moved out to 16 feet.

The depth in which we are catching these fish remains the same; the lures are Thunderstick Jrs. and Fat Warts by Storm. Colors have been anything with orange.

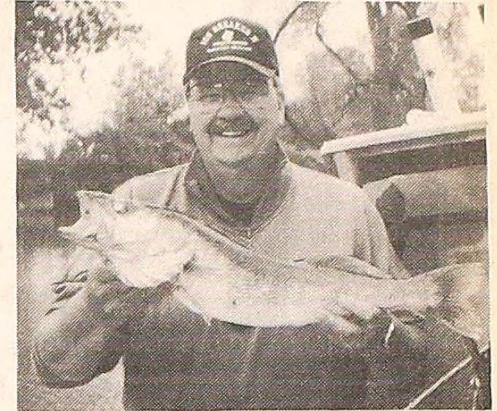

One of my favorite lures has been the Rebel Crawfish (chartreuse and orange). These lures will dive - depending on how much line you let out - four to six feet.

Worm drifters have been doing okay near Turtle Island and the Toledo Lighthouse. There is a reef in that area; just run out and look for the large concentration of boats. Again, weight forward spinners are the most popular lure.

Water temperature has finally started to rise. Two weeks ago, when we started fishing, the temperature was 48°F; last week, it rose to a high of 54°F. When it hits 60°F, the main concentration of walleye will start feeding in our area, and the catch report will increase.

The size of the walleye caught has also varied a good deal. One day, we might find a school that will range from three to six pounds; the next day, the school that we locate might only be one to three pounds.

It has been a strange spring. If the weather continues to react like it has so far, we won't have a spring again; we will go right into summer.

Belleville Lake Report

South Street Tackle in Belleville reports that walleye are being caught on Ford Lake at the I-94 Ford Plant area. They are using one-sixteenth-ounce Pinky tipped with a minnow or a Twister Tail.

Also, fishermen using nightcrawlers report that sucker and walleye are hitting on the Huron River just below the Ford Lake Dam.

Belleville Lake fishermen are catching good-size crappie off the bank and the docks.

Gift Certificates

Now it's time for a commercial. My charter service is offering a 10% discount during the weekdays (Mondays through Saturdays). Try and take advantage of this weekday rate; you can also set your own starting time. The charters last six hours, dock to dock, or to a limit catch of walleye.

Gift certificates are also available. (These would make a great birthday, anniversary, or Mother's Day or Father's Day gift.)

That's all for now, folks. Don't forget to take advantage of the free fishing weekend in June. And kids: Take a parent fishing. □

friendly 10-year-old golden retriever. Bales could, I'm sure, make a good case for Bingo being one of the brightest dogs ever. As Bales and I were talking, we heard the familiar jingle of the ice-cream truck. Quickly, Bales held out a dollar bill to Bingo, who, after taking it in his mouth, ran out to meet the ice-cream lady.

The lady took the money and proceeded to unwrap an ice-cream sandwich, which was gratefully accepted by Bingo - who, after settling comfortably in a patch of green grass, enjoyed his treat. Afterwards, he may have flossed, but I'm not sure. . . .

In his leisure time, Bales enjoys golfing, fishing, and spending time with his family. Also, he's an avid devotee of John Wayne and Elvis Presley.

As a couple, Dan and Carole like to golf and, as they put it, "enjoy each other's company." Carole remarked that, after Dan's School Board days are over, they're looking forward to having more time together.

As we wrapped up our interview, Bales stated that he has enjoyed his tenure on the School Board because it has allowed him to serve the community - especially the youths. This service has given him a well-deserved feeling of accomplishment.

"I feel that we, as a society, do a good job of poisoning our youth - be it through television or other means," he stated. "I feel that, hopefully, I've been helping to reverse this situation. I feel that God has put us down here to make our world a better place to live in - and, through the School Board, that's what I've been trying to do."

And, after talking to Bales, it was apparent to me that he has made a sincere, highly successful effort to make this a better world for all of us. He will be sorely missed when he steps down from the Board of Education this summer. □

Most of the people of Romulus don't know it, but, for the last three years, their city has been home to an insurance agency which offers complete, multi-line services. The company, Kahl & Associates, was established here in the City in 1980, moved to Westland in 1984, and returned to Romulus in 1990.

Grover Kahl, owner of Kahl & Associates, lived in Romulus for 20 years. He and his wife and two children lived at 16540 Wayne Road until 1992, when Wayne County purchased their property for its Airport Expansion project. The Kahls now reside in Wayne.

Kahl's agency handles all types of insurance, from homeowners and auto to complete commercial lines such as property, liability, workers compensation, bonds, and more. Also included in their arsenal of products is group and individual health insurance, and group and individual disability insurance.

"If there's an insurance need of any kind," states Kahl, "it can most likely be handled through the Agency."

Grover Kahl started in the insurance business as a debit agent with Life of Virginia on January 15, 1979. Though it was a good company, says Kahl, it just didn't offer all the products that his clients needed. After a year and a half with Life of Virginia, Kahl decided to become an independent agent. In July of 1980, he and his brother, Bob Kahl, who was also with Life of Virginia at the time, ventured out on their own; from that venture came Kahl & Associates.

Though he had already become licensed for life and health insurance in 1979, Kahl saw the need to offer auto and homeowners insurances to his clients as well, so he became licensed to sell those products in 1980. Then, in 1981, he began to sell all the commercial products to businesses in the Area.

In 1990, Kahl started to look toward expanding. The Agency had grown to the point of being too much for one person to handle. That year, Joy Hamilton came to work for the Agency as a customer service representative. Hamilton now handles most of the personal lines in the office, and is able to answer most questions about rates or services.

Also in 1990, Kahl began to look to expand the Agency in other areas. He wanted to hire additional sales staff to help build the business even faster. He looked for an insurance company to help with this project, but was unsuccessful.

Then, in 1991, Kahl was introduced to "Money Concepts International," a financial planning firm from Florida. Over the years, Kahl had provided some financial planning for his clients; however, here was a firm that could not only help him in his own practice, but would also provide a complete training program enabling him to take on new agents and train them in the business of financial planning. (In fact, the Agency is looking to hire at least one full-time and two part-time people at this time. Anyone interested in this career opportunity should call 941-7310 and set up an interview.) It seemed too good to be true, yet here was just what he had been looking for.

In 1992, after about six months of studies, Kahl became licensed to sell securities. This latest move to get the securities license has proved to be very helpful to Kahl's business, for now – in addition to all the insurance products, such as life and fixed annuities – he can offer mutual funds, variable annuities, variable life, and any number of bond funds. Many of his current clients, as well as several new ones, are benefiting from these products.

"With bank CD interest rates at a 30-year low," says Kahl, "many of my clients, as well as other Area residents, are taking advantage of products that have a much higher yield."

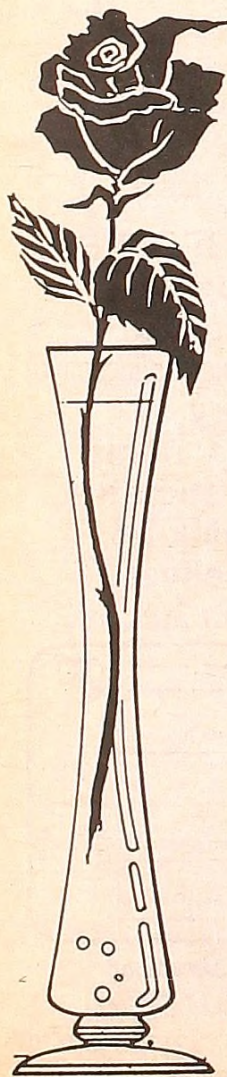

Through Money Concepts, Kahl & Associates offer a number of seminars on such subjects as "Winning Investment Strategies," "Money Management," "Home Equity Loan Planning," and "The Biweekly Mortgage Program."

On Thursday, May 6, a seminar on the subject of "Alternatives to Bank CDs" will be given at Belleville's Golden Boy Restaurant. Then on Friday, May 7, there will be a seminar on "Home Equity Loan Planning" in Westland. Anyone wanting more information about these seminars, or wishing to attend them, should call Kahl & Associates at 941-7310. □

"Our Home"

Real Estate Market Is Booming!

By Celia Chesno, realtor

Well, I have to tell you that the real estate market is positively booming right now! People are very anxious to buy, and sellers are just waiting for the "right offer" to come in. Here, in my own hometown of Romulus, I listed four homes in the past month! Four, and two of them have already sold!

"Already sold?" you ask. Yes, one sold within one week and the other sold within three! People are looking right here in our community for that special home. . . . Could it be yours?

"Why is the market so good?" you ask. Well, to start with, I think that people have become cautiously optimistic about the economy. We were in a "down" market for a long time, and people are just starting to look toward a brighter tomorrow. People know that real estate is a good investment, and what more incentive do you need than "the home of your dreams"?

Also, the interest rates are the lowest that they've been in years. Will they go higher? Why take the chance? If you have been considering buying or selling, NOW is the time.

"Now I get it," you say. "The interest rates do make a major difference to me! I think that we need to start planning to make this move now!"

"I'm here to help you make good decisions," I reply, "and you know that I'll help you any way that I can. Why don't we start today?"

* * *

Feel free to call if I can assist you. You can reach me at Century 21 Suburban (464-0205) or my home (941-5704). I also carry a beeper (941-0941) so that you can contact me at any time.

On Sunday, May 9, I will be doing an open house at 14119 Hannan from 1 to 4 p.m. Please stop by so that I can meet you in person, and answer any real estate questions that you may have. □

He is survived by his wife; one daughter, Miss Mitzi Smolinski (Wayne, MI); four sons, John H. (Lincoln Park, MI), Scott W. (Belleville, MI), Christopher M. (Belleville, MI), and Jeffrey R. Smolinski (Belleville, MI); one brother, Ronald Smolinski (Ferndale, MI); one brother-in-law, Leslie W. Hans (Belleville, MI); and one grandson, Michael L. Smolinski. He was preceded in death by his sister Geraldine in 1991.

Funeral services were held on Thursday, April 29, at St. Anthony Catholic Church (Belleville, MI), with Father Thomas Cusick officiating. Memorial tributes may be made to Hospice of Western Wayne. Arrangements were made by Crane Funeral Home (Romulus, MI). □

Hapkido Teaches Martial-arts Students More than Self-defense

Hapkido – a unique, rarely seen self-defense art – is currently being taught at the Carleton Performing Arts Center (12610 Harris Street; 654-2915) by Master Marshall P. Gagne.

According to Gagne, self-defense is only part of what the study of Hapkido has to offer. Its techniques are exercises, which have been practiced for more than 1,500 years, help students to achieve serenity through self-confidence.

School-age children, especially, can benefit from the study of this martial art. Black-belt instructors are also positive role models who discourage smoking, drinking, and taking drugs. They encourage students to listen to their parents and achieve good grades in school.

Hapkido – which is routinely taught to military special forces and the President's bodyguards – incorporates a wide variety of self-defense techniques.

"We teach students to use striking, kicking, twisting, throwing, and pinning maneuvers against an opponent," said Gagne. "And, since Hapkido uses the opponent's strength against him, and also teaches students about leverage, you don't have to be big and strong to use it."

He continued, "The neatest thing about Hapkido is that you can learn how to defend yourself without getting hurt. You also can control the amount of damage to your opponent. Students are taught to use Hapkido only in defense!"

"I feel that Hapkido is unique because it's not as regimented as other forms of martial arts, and the students are taught by both their abilities and their limitations," he concluded.

Gagne, who began his martial-arts training while serving as a US Army paratrooper in Korea in 1969, has been teaching for 24 years.

Anyone interested in learning more about Hapkido can contact Arts of Defense Hapkido at 654-3960. They will tailor a course to meet your schedule and your budget.
